

OUR QUALITY POLICY

MILRES A.S. aims to meet the great need in the wind turbine market in the field of self-consumption with domestic technology. With its unique design and technology, it enables the production of Turkish wind energy turbines that are competitive at world standards. MilRes protects its national character and the efforts of its stakeholders under the brand name, and establishes its name in the international market. It directs the commercial and technical know-how of the founders of the company, based on years of experience, to the same purpose and carries it to the future in an institutionalized form.

Our aim is to produce a real, tangible and national solution to energy consumption, which is one of the most difficult and urgent problems of the world. To be a sought-after and appreciated organization in the sector by offering the most efficient and high quality applications and solutions that will meet the current and future demands and needs of our customers on time and without any problems, using contemporary information and communication technologies.

Quality objectives should be measurable and consistent with the quality policy. We aim to make our performance as measurable as possible. Performances will be transformed into information through the effective use of statistical methods and improvements will be monitored.

We commit to:

Carrying out the "Product and Production Responsibility" with the systems we have established in line with global quality management standards and foreseeing a successful future with risk management, and we will continuously improve and protect them;

Carrying out our R&D activities by closely following global strategic developments, with sensitivity to the implementation of national/international laws and relevant standards, especially the applicable requirements of ISO 9001.

The principle of "quality first" is the foundation of all our work on the basis of error prevention by analyzing risks, change management, continuous improvement, and process management with targets.

"Customer Satisfaction" will be ensured through timely fulfillment of projects and expectations, solution partnership in new projects and economic costs using the latest technology.

Through "Planned Trainings" will ensure that all employees have access to up-to-date, theoretical and practical knowledge and use it correctly.

We will fully comply with the laws and contemporary demands in the areas of "Environmental Protection and Occupational Safety."

By following the principles of "EFFICIENCY AND SAVINGS" that prevent waste of time, cost and resources, by improving our infrastructure and work environment, together with all our employees and suppliers, we will create "EFFECTIVE BUSINESS RESULTS."
